What is the Profis Network?

PROFIS NETWORK is an organization that advocates for the rights of individuals with craniofacial anomalies. PROFIS is committed to the development and maintenance of parent-patient support groups throughout Brazil. One of the network's goals is to connect and assist (in all matters) the country's existing 43 support-groups promoting live and internet courses, seminars, meetings, technical assistance. By fostering the exchange of experiences and information the network targets empowerment of those with anomalies and their supporters.

How Profis Network was created

The network was made possible with funding from a State of São Paulo Research Foundation (FAPESP) and the work of professionals and staff of the Social Work Dept. at the Hospital for Rehabilitation of Craniofacial Anomalies (HRAC) at University of São Paulo (USP), in the city of Bauru.

The mission of the network is to congregate parent-patient support groups for cleft palate-craniofacial anomalies throughout the country, aiming at the technical-scientific exchange of knowledge as well as the defense actions empowerment of interests and rights of those with anomalies.

There are currently 43 Support Groups throughout the 27 Brazilian states. Together these groups provide assistance to more than 1,000 cities and over 20,000 patients. These groups have the purpose of assuring that health, educational, vocational and community needs of patients and their caregivers are met.
